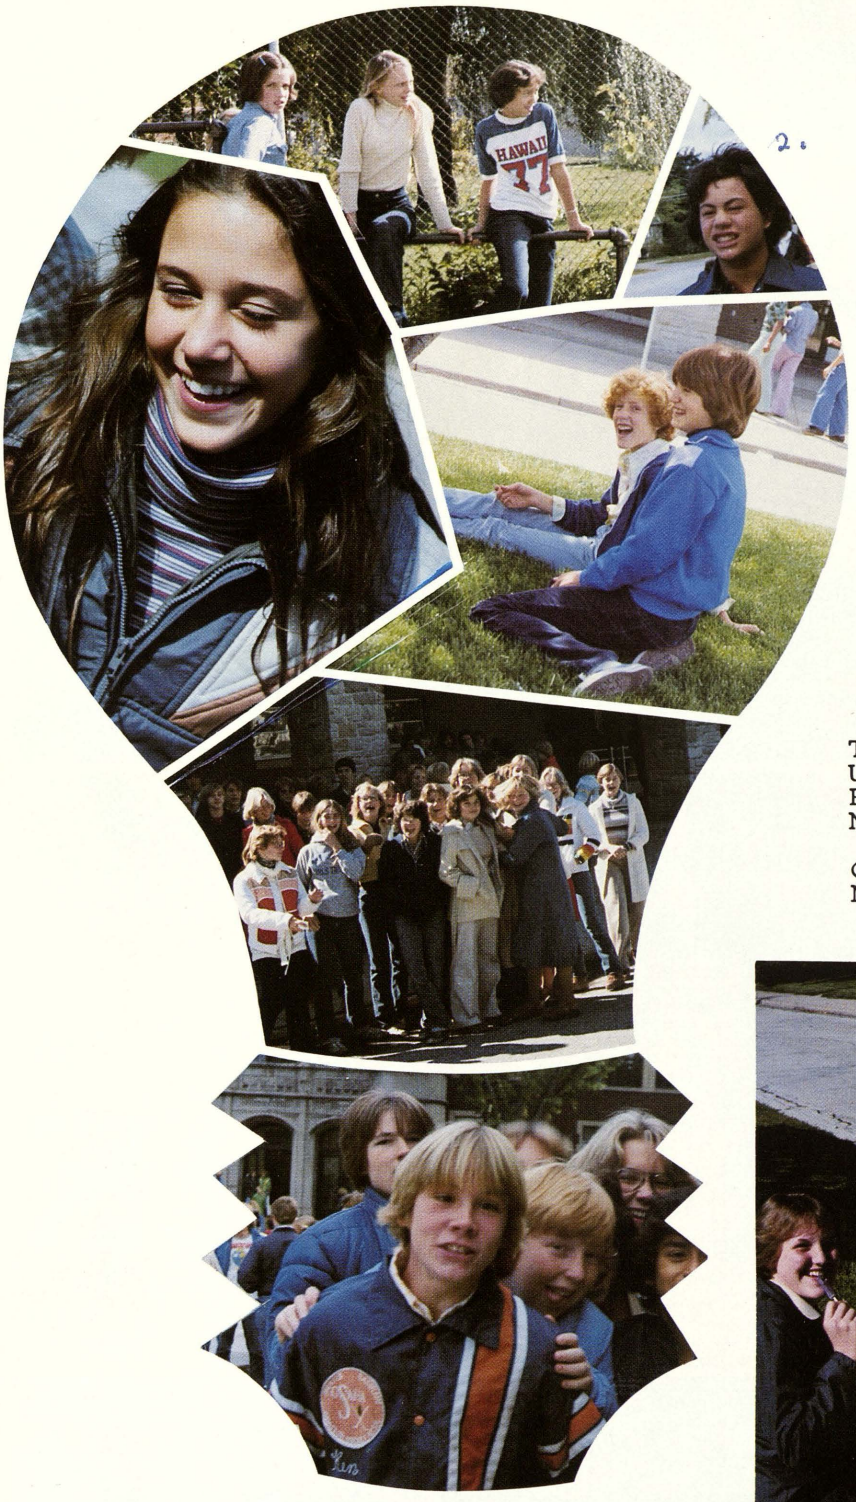
Turning On To South



Edison invented the lightbulb, and Rebels invented hope. Rebels moved on with hopes of victory, of new friends, passing tests, and hopes of good memories. Dances, plays, and lunch hours made the 1977-78 school year seem extra special. Turn ''on'' the lights and watch South's year as you turn the pages.

Administrators Help Achieve Goals

For the past nine years Principal John D. Ekelof has kept order at South School. The administrators as will as the teachers have kept a tight schedule but still had time to supervise our dances, concerts, and all other school activities at South.

Filling the office of the Superintendent of Saginaw Public Schools is Dr. Donald Steele.

Assistant Principal Duane D. Maas, maintains discipline through out the school as well as ninth grade pupil personnel.

New this year at South is Assistant principal Mrs. Margaret Brown who is in charge of curriculum and seventh grade pupil personnel.

Advisors Aid Both Students And Faculty

Miss Evelyn Vassaw, who is the ninth grade counselor here at South spends her leisure time bowling, skiing, playing golf, and gardening. Her advice to kids who have an interest in teaching is to choose a field that isn't overcrowded. Work hard in high school and college and be among the best in your class, because only the best will succeed in getting good jobs.

Mr. Paul Schaefer, South's eighth grade counselor, attended CMU and decided to go into the field of counseling because he liked working with people. He is active in such sports as golf, swimming, skiing, and gardening. For the most part, he thinks today's youth are far ahead of years ago because of better education and television.

Mrs. Winifred Young, seventh grade counselor, enjoys sewing, plant raising, needlepoint, and knitting in her spare time. She attended the University of Michigan and decided to be a counselor because she enjoyed being around young people. She thinks kids are ''different'' and applauds their independence and spirit.

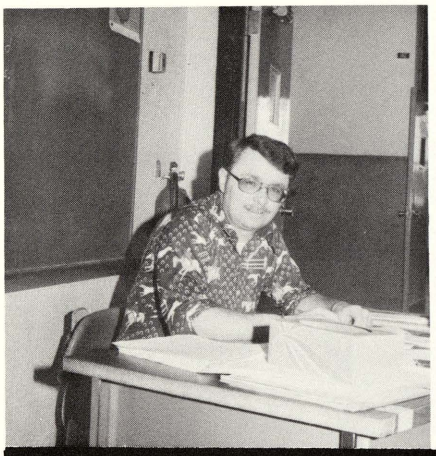
Some of Mrs. Mary Bridgewater's hobbies are sewing, furniture refinishing, and art. Her career here at South as a social worker conists of working with students and their parents. Mrs. Bridgewater attended Wilberforce University and the University of New York at Buffalo. Her feelings of the way kids act today are that they are only reflecting our expectations of them.

Mrs. Bobbie Roberts, who is active in the adjusted study program, enjoys reading, swimming, and camping. She attended SVSC to earn her Bachelors of Arts Degree then on to CMU to achieve her Master of Arts degree. Her reasons for venturing into this field of work are to assist in the acedemic and social development of America's future leaders. Mrs. Roberts hopes this attempt with provide open-minded, productive human beings.

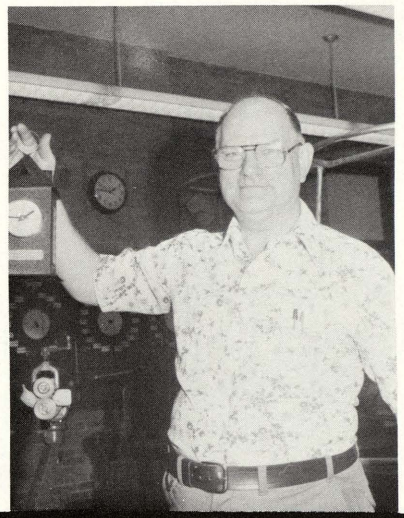
The secretaries, Mrs. Kim Heindrich and Mrs. Lois Schallhorn, have many talents and are a big help to students and administration.

Teachers Turn On To Rebels

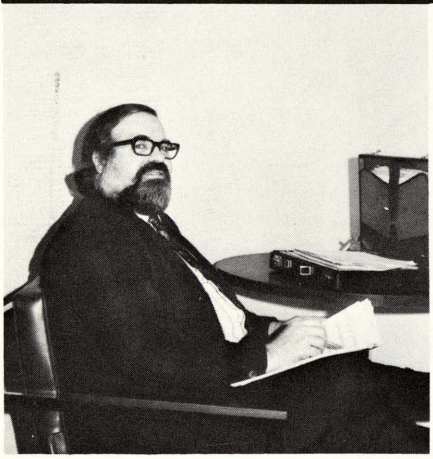
Mr. Robert Carlyon teaches graphics in the Industrial Arts Department. He is enjoying photography as a hobby.



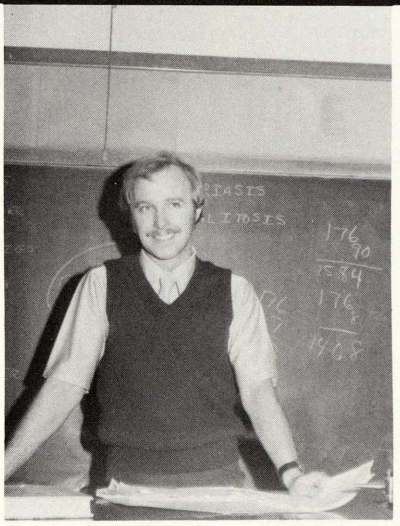
Teaching metal this year is Mr. Edwin Doughty in the Industrial Arts Department. He also likes rebuilding antique cars as a hobby.



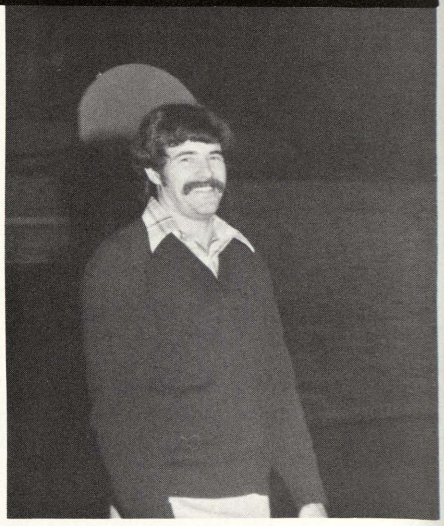
Miss Marion Brown attended Kurtztow State College and received a BS degree in art supervision. Some of her hobbies are painting, fishing, chip carving, and photography. Her reason for becoming a teacher is that she was always impressed with the teachers that she had in public schools. She feels that students don't have the manners and the respect for materials and supplies.



Concert master of the Germania and Midland Symphony Orchestras, and traveling teacher of strings to Arthur Hill, North, Webber, and South, fill many honors for Mr. David Austin. Other varied musical experiences have included performing with accompanying ensembles for musical celebraties such as Bacharach, Liberace, Carol Channing, Mancini, and Arthur Fiedler has given him many hours of musical memories.



In our science department this year is Mr. Harold Day. Besides his teaching he also enjoys hunting, fishing, and metal detecting. His reason for becoming a teacher was because of his interest in people and subject material. He thinks kids of today are not a lot different from kids of the past. His advice to people who want to be a teacher is "Good Luck"!

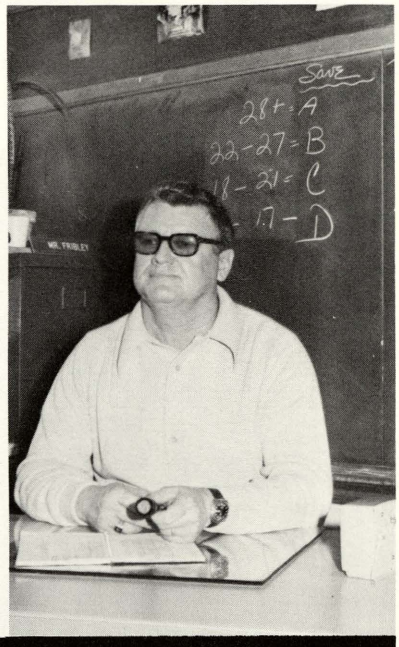


Mr. Glen Call taught math, ninth grade gym, and coached the eighth grade football team and ninth grade basketball team. He was transferred to Central Junior High second semester.

Mrs. Maple Brown teaches the fundamentals of sewing for all grades.

Teaching English this year is Mrs. Beth Becker. She enjoys several sports, reading, and knitting. She attended CMU. Her reason for becoming a teacher is she likes the challenge of teaching young people. Her advice to students who wish to become a teacher is Punt! She thinks that each student should be responsible for his or her own actions.

Mr. Jack Fribley teaches the fundamentals of typing. His room shows evidence of his "green thumb" and the students enjoy typing to the rhythm of his stereo.



Mrs. Judy Brown, homemaking teacher, taught cooking. She was transferred to Arthur Eddy.

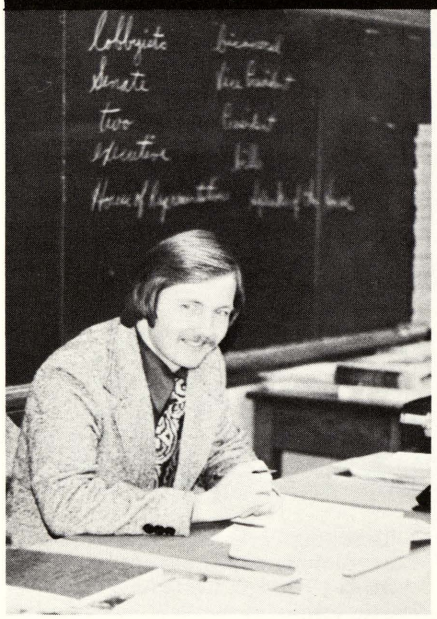
Mrs. Phyllis Burton, Special Education teacher enjoys sewing and collecting books. She feels young people of today are more outspoken about their feelings. She thinks students could help to better South if they were more courteous to their peers and teachers.

Teaching civics and language development this year is Mrs. Lera Aikin. Along with teaching she also enjoys growing plants, sewing, and reading. Upon graduation from high school she received a 4 year scholarship to college which made a childhood dream become a reality. She attended Praire View A&M University in Texas. Her outlook on teaching is "to teach is to touch a life . . . forever".

Teachers Aid In Students Future

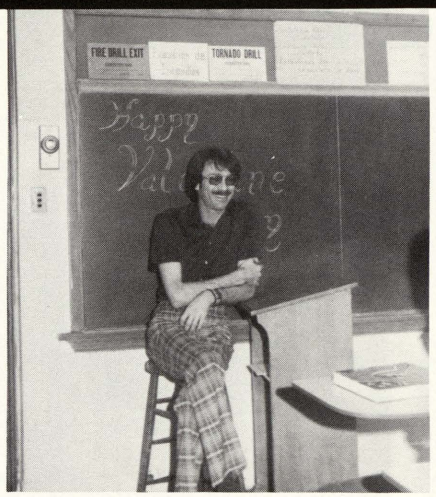
Miss Mary Ellen Gase, music director has had the excitement of traveling to many places, which include Europe, Mexico, the West Indies and Hawaiian Islands. Sports that take place outside such as skiing and biking are her favorites. Miss Gase's favorite past time is music and sharing it with others.

Mr. Greg Gray, careers and civics teacher, enjoys sports such as golf and tennis. Mr. Gray attended Central Michigan University and the reason he wanted to be a teacher was because he likes working with young people.

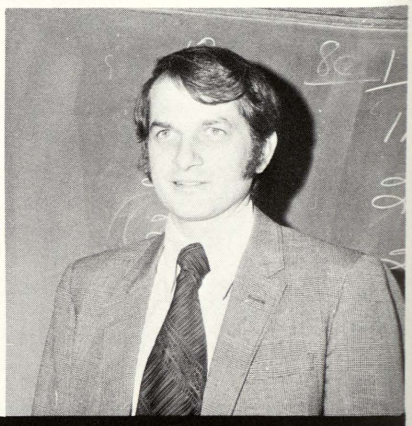


Teaching English this year is Mrs. Patsy Geeting, who received her educational teaching degree at the University of Michigan. Mrs. Geeting is a collector of many things such as coins, stamps and figurines.

Various languages can be heard from Mr. Ronald Greiner's room. He taught Spanish and English this year but has also taught German in the past years. Mr. Greiner attended schools not only in the United States but also in Europe.

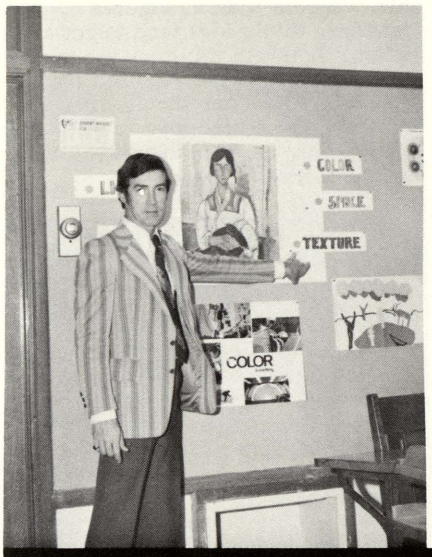


Mr. Eugene Graczyk, math instructor, gives this advice to students thinking of becoming a teacher, "The rewards of teaching cannot be measured in monetary terms, but the joy of teaching is a experience when working with enthusiastic and polite students." A TV show he likes watching is "60 minutes." Mr. Graczyk enjoys school and working with young people.

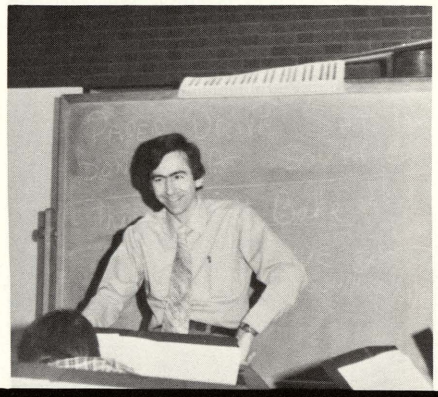


Teaching seemed the natural way to go for Mrs. Anna Louise Haines because she has always enjoyed school. Mrs. Haines teaches math. She says "The kids today are much more social in their approach to learning."

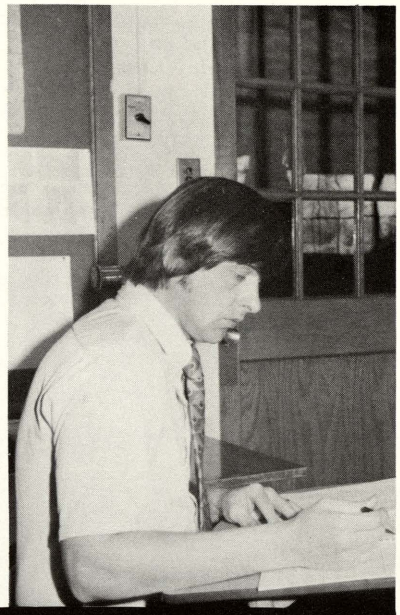
Mr. Luther Hale teaches crafts and social studies. He himself does crafts on his own time. Pottery and painting interest him. Mr. Hale likes TV novels and musical specials. He thinks students could better South by having more personal pride and school pride will follow.

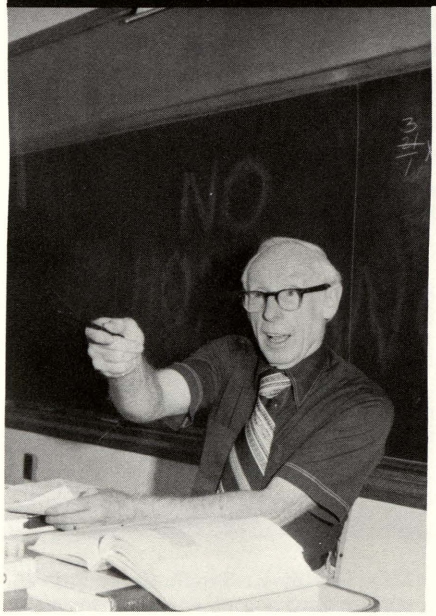


He wanted to show students how to enjoy music through playing a musical instrument. Mr. James Hargett does exactly this by directing South's bands. He spends time doing the craft of staining glass or reading. The ''Gong Show'' is one of his favorite shows.



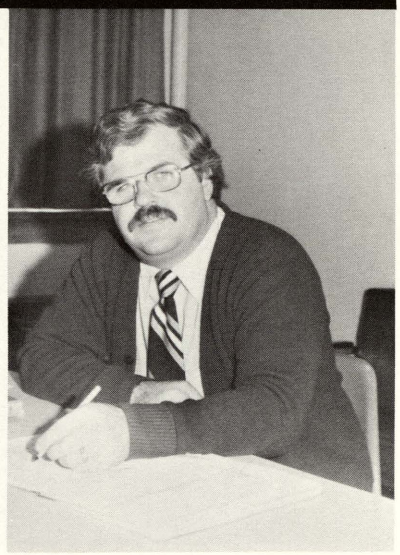
Mr. Carl Jacobson teaches French and social studies. He also coaches the girls' basketball team.





Mr. Clarence Jones' reasons for entering the profession of teaching was that he had a desire to teach math and related business subjects. Mr. Jones says ''I advise students who want to be teachers that it is hard work and they would have a lot of evening work.

Mrs. Libby Kelly teaches English. She thinks of teaching as a good profession! Mrs. Kelly's hobbies are tennis, reading and crossword puzzles. She likes watching professional golf and tennis on TV. Mrs. Kelly attended the University of Michigan.

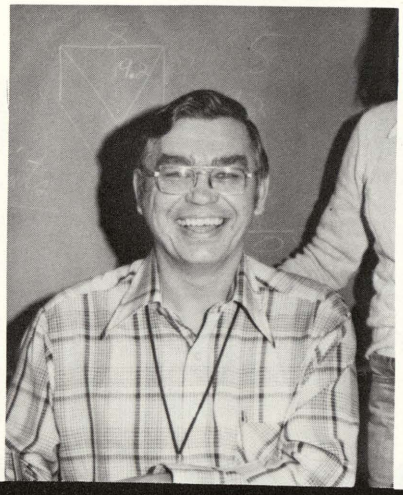


He wanted to help pupils become respected citizens and good decision makers. Mr. Daniel Kempi does this by teaching studies through his classes of careers and social studies. He likes fishing, boating and working in his yard on his time off.

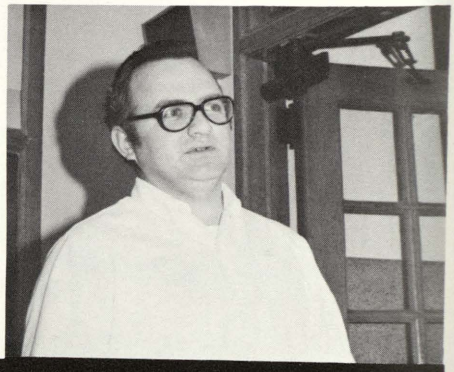
Teachers Get Students To Think

Miss Evelyn Lange, history teacher, attended CMU and enjoys working with young people. Miss Lange believes that kids could show a little more respect for their teachers and peers, but the greatest percentage of kids today are well-behaved respectful, and a great asset to the generation. She enjoys woodcarving, reading, fishing, and traveling.

Teaching math and gym this year is Mr. Roger Little. To better South School, Mr. Little believes students could have a general respect for other students and property, have more pride in the school, and get involved in more school activities.

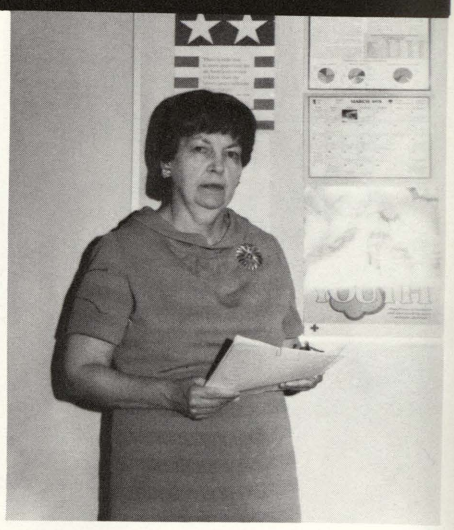


Mr. Vincent Mosca, algebra teacher, thinks kids tend to act at school the same way they are taught to act at home. He attended CMU and thinks that one should have a sense of humor and love to work with kids if they are thinking of teaching as a profession.



Teaching speech communication is Mrs. Brenda Palmateer. She likes the challenges of working with youth, and that was her reason for wanting to become a teacher. Mrs. Palmateer thinks kids today are full of life, energy, and a wealth of fantastic ideas. If students would learn to work independently and assume more responsibility, she thinks it would better our school.

Mrs. Florence Reagh, English instructor, enjoys bridge, golf, cross country skiing, and bowling. Mrs. Reagh attended CMU and wanted to become a teacher because she enjoyed school as a child. She thinks that kids today are more free to express themselves, which is often a compliment to teachers.



Miss Shirley E. Sandhoff, social studies instructor, enjoys writing reading, cooking, and crossword puzzles. She has won several writing contests, and the love of children, history, and service to her country brought her to teaching. To better our school, she believes students could listen, study, and appreciate their opportunities.

Mr. Raymond Seelye, science teacher, attended Ferris State, MSU, U of M, and CMU and enjoys camping, fishing, and gardening, He believes students need a return to better moral standards and a respect for others and their property to improve our school. He enjoys working with the youth and gets satisfaction out of hearing accomplishments of former students.

As English, social studies, and journalism teacher, Mrs. Helen Sparks thinks that students should ''try to be themselves rather than fit in a mold to be like everyone else''. Mrs. Sparks was inspired to be a teacher by the favorable influence of former teachers she had, plus her family. Mrs. Sparks enjoys ceramics and many areas of music.

Playing softball, volleyball, football, pinball, and tennis are some hobbies of Miss Val Stamper, gym and health teacher. She enjoys the television show ''Police Woman'' and attended Delta College and CMU. At the beginning of the second semester she was transferred to Central Junior High.

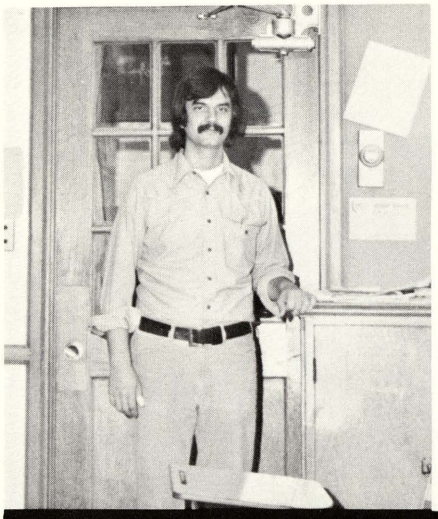
Mrs. Virginia Sternhagen, English teacher, grew up in a family of teachers and became favorably influenced because of their educational interests, activities, and mutual love of kids. She enjoys cooking, reading, and golf, and wishes students could develop a greater sense of pride in themselves, their school and in all the activities in which they are involved.

Mrs. June St. John directs the library staff.

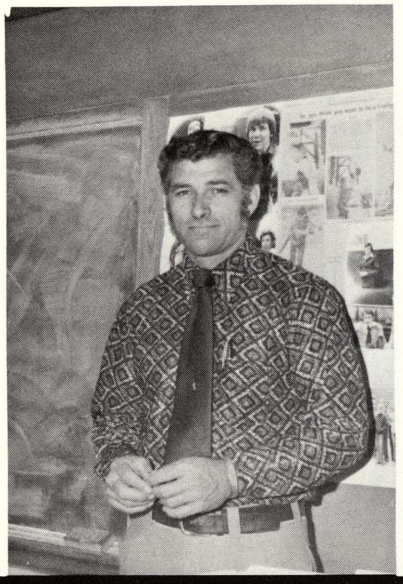
Mrs. Margaret Tenney, math instructor, enjoys a variety of hobbies. Working needlepoint, knitting; and refinishing furniture are some on her list. In college she majored in Latin and Greek and mathematics. Mrs. Tenney says that ''kids'' are ''kids'' at any generation. Today, they have less respect for education. They are merely the ''produce'' of the ''times.''

Teachers Help In Many Ways

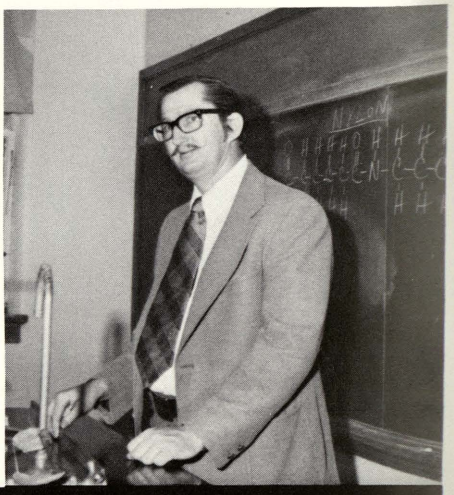
Mr. Don Van Steenkiste taught plastics in the Industrial Arts Department at South the first semester. He is now teaching at Central Junior High.

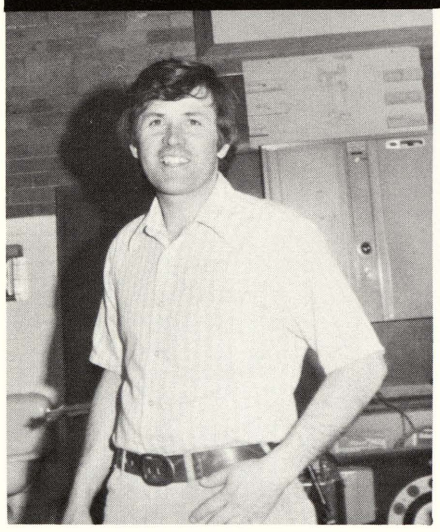


Mr. John Wilkinson, a math and careers teacher, enjoys photography. He has also shown his cooking skills in the new kitchen in the teachers' lounge.

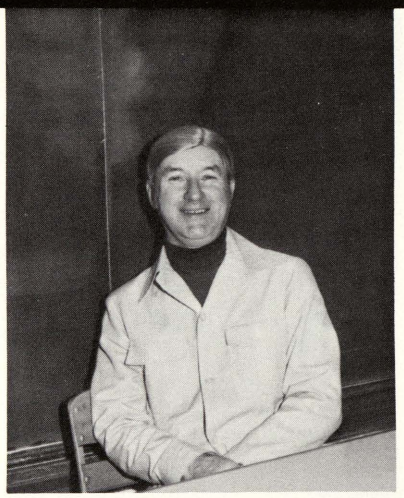


Mr. Norris Uhlman taught science and math the first semester at South. He is now teaching at Central Junior High.





Mr. Harvey Ulbricht teaches wood shop in the Industrial Arts Department. His teaching efforts have helped students to produce many award-winning wood projects.



Mr. Jesse Thornhill, teacher of science and drafting, attended Michigan State University. Some of his hobbies are coin collecting and fishing. He also enjoys watching sporting events on T.V.

Mrs. Louise Van Alstine teaches special education classes. She enjoys knitting.

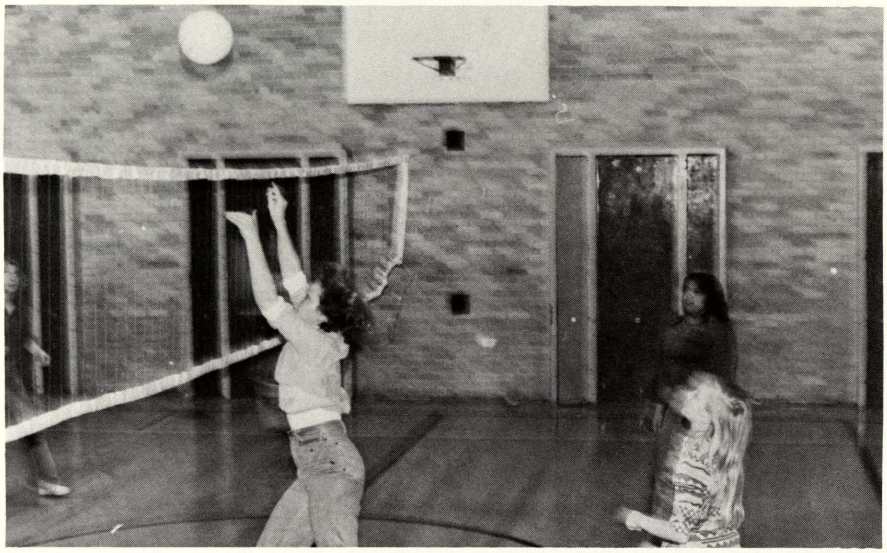
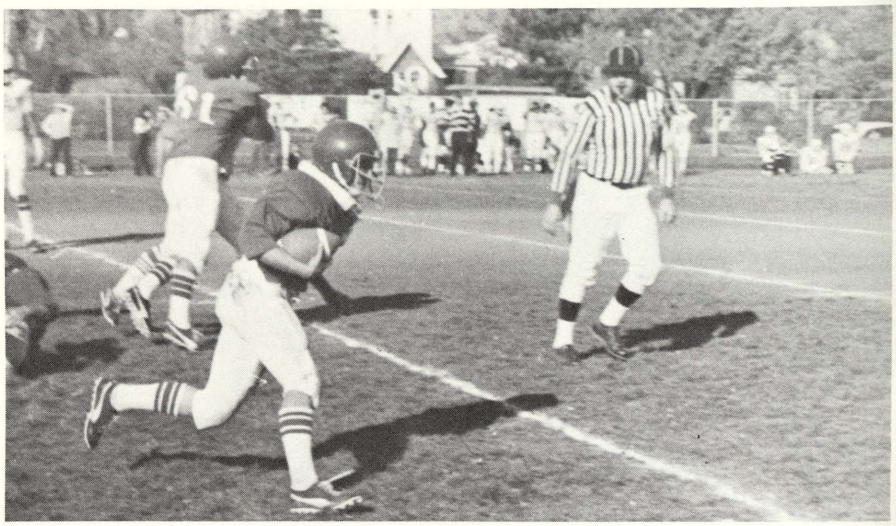
Many Participate In Intramurals



All the students like intramural sports because they offer the chance to participate in all the sports they may not have the chance to join. The sports include; football, basketball, volleyball, and baseball.

Senior Gridders Improve Record



This year's ninth grade football team, coached by Mr. Roger Little and Mr. Jeff Oeming, took third place in the city league with a four wins four losses record. Although it was only a .500 season it was a big improvement on their record from last year. They started out the season well with two wins but ended the season on a sour note with two losses. Leading scorer on the year was Jon Phillips. The team elected Steve Schaper as their captain for the year and Jon Phillips as their most valuable player.

Eighth Grade Champs Prove The Rebels Are Great

The only way to become a great Rebel is if you put in as much time and hard work as 1978's eighth grade champions. They deserve the recognition for playing hard to put a new and good meaning to the word ''Champion''.

This years high scorers were Chris Hare with 161, Bill Dijak with 142, and Mike Murphy with 137. Aaron Dent, the leading free throw shooter, had a very good average of 77%. The leading rebounder was Bill Dijak with a total of 94. Souths total points this season were 601 leading high over their opponents with 479.

Presidents' Council Works To Improve South

This year's election for officers was held in the fall of the year instead of last spring. The students elected Thad Winieckie as president and Jon Phillips as our vice-president. Jill Schrader is the secretary and Kris Nelson is the treasurer. The President's Council is headed by Mr. Duane Maas.

All the money made from the dances goes to our sponsor child, Eunice Sathiabalen. They dedicated the Freedom Shrine, a collection of important documents of the United States. They also participated in Optomist International Youth Appreciation Week.

Journalism Staff Works Hard To Complete Yearbook

The ninth grade journalism staff has worked hard all year. They have been busy meeting yearbook deadlines and writing the Rebel Review. Putting out the Sis Boom requires much work. Layouts must by drawn, pictures must be identified, and copy must be written. The staff is under the supervision of Mrs. Helen Sparks.

Eighth Graders Look Forward To Next Year

The journalism staff for 1978-1979 has spent this year learning the many responsibilities and duties of a journalism staff. They learn how to write well and also the many techniques of preparing a yearbook. With this training, they should shape into an excellent staff.

The eighth grade journalism staff consists of: (FRONT) Susan Ederer, Jennifer Lian, Jennifer Ferguson, Marilynn Ignash. (MIDDLE ROW) Diane Dodge, Susan Nagy, Sarah Spradlin, Mary Wazny, Jodi Rousseau. (BACK ROW) Paul Stewart, Scott Kuhlman, Chris Hare, Bryson McCulloch, David Piening and Debbie Kochalko. (TOP) Mary Wazny and Marilynn Ignash make a practice layout. (ABOVE LEFT) Gil McRae poses before class starts. (ABOVE) Mary Wazny, Paul Stewart and John Parrent spend spare time usefully.

Children's Theater Captivates Audienc

"The Golden Goose," which was performed by the ninth grade drama class, was presented at the annual showing of the Children's Theater under the direction of Mrs. Brenda Palmater. It is a particularly happy combination of story and playwright. The physical comedy not only made it and uproarous experience for the audience, but a simple play for actors to perform effectively. Buried beneath the laughs, there is an attractive moral, too. Here are some scenes from the play.

The Audio Visual Squad and the Cafeteria and Library workers have helped many people throughout the year. The Audio Visual Squad, under the direction of Mr. Harold Day, has the job of taking care of and distributing audio and visual aids to the classroom. They also play an important part in stage performances, working the lights and microphones. The Cafeteria Staff washes dishes, serves food, and performs many other kitchen duties. The Library workers, under the direction of Mrs. June St. John, help check out books, keep them in order, and keep track of fines. These staffs contribute much to our life at South School.

The library staff for 1977 and 1978 is TOP LEFT: Anne Reis, Jennifer Lian, Susan Nagy, Kristy McIntyre, and Brenda McCann. Kevin McKeown, a ninth grader, died September 14, 1977, after a fatal accident. Kevin is missed by many of his friends at South.

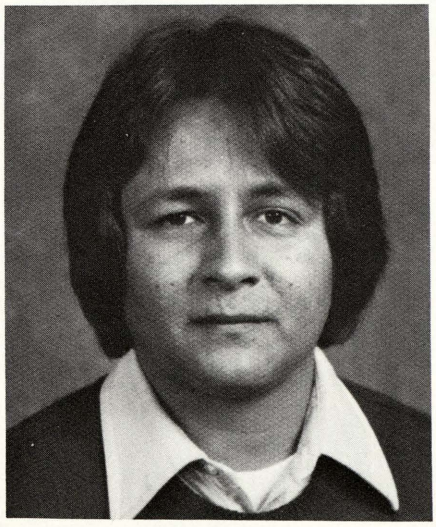
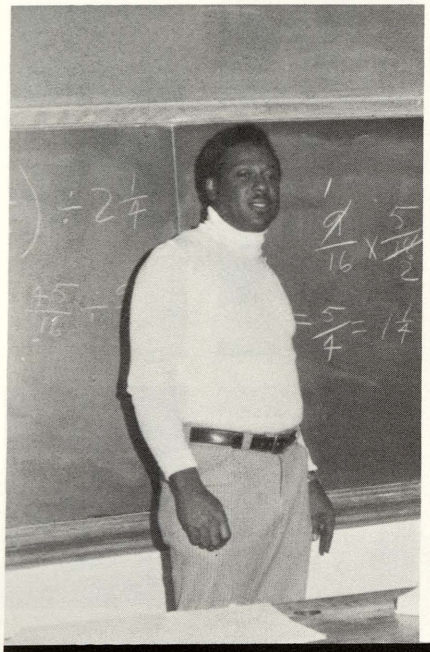
South School is represented in the city and county spelling contests. These students competed in both meets. Pictured (RIGHT) are the eighth, ninth, and seventh grade representatives respectively: (seated) David Piening, Tim Pendell, Matt Rick, (standing) Alternates Susan Ederer, Dorthy Eisch, and David Gronski. Special recognition should go to Dorothy Eisch who took second in the county meet last year. Dorothy received a stereo for her efforts.

A new program has been added to South's curriculum this year for our second semester. Many students with bi-lingual family backgrounds have had assistance through the help of Mr. Jesse Gonzales, instructor, (RIGHT) and his assistant Maymie Ontiveros (FAR RIGHT).

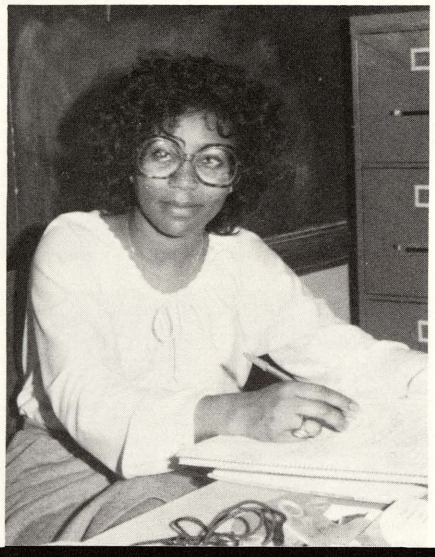


Teachers Adapt To New Setting

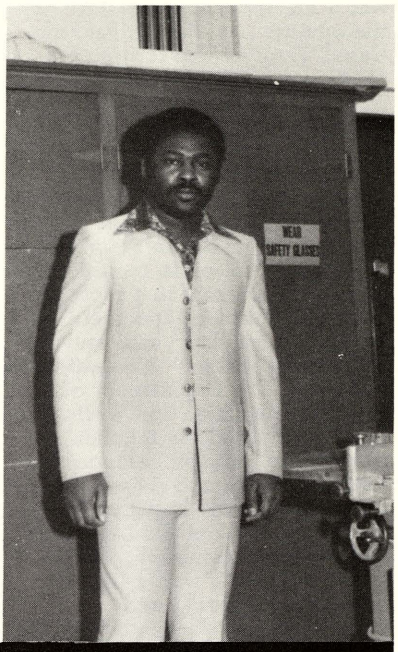
Mr. Leon Clark teaches science and math. He was transferred from Central.



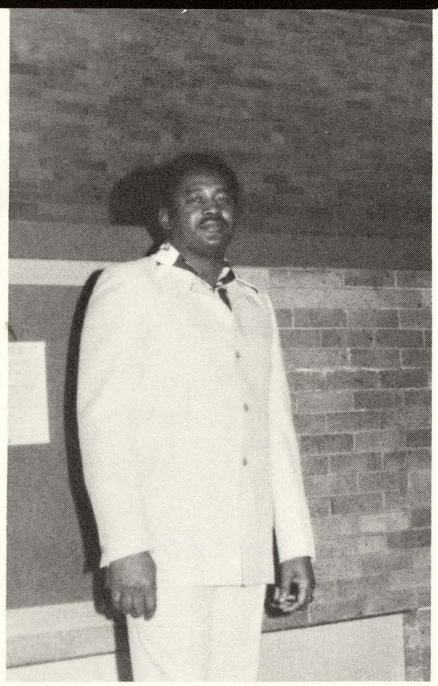
Mrs. Carole Woolfolk, who came from Central, teaches gym and health education.



Our plastics teacher is Mr. Clinton Gentry. He was transferred from Central.



Mr. Matthew Hubbard, also from Central, teaches our band classes.



Some of our gym classes are taught by Mr. Lee Arthur, who came from Central.

PICTURE NOT AVAILABLE. SORRY!

Mrs. Narcissus Williams, who was transferred from Eddy, teaches home economics.

'77-'78 School Year Comes To A Close

As the 1977-78 school year comes to a close, we reflect on events in this past year which affected the lives of everyone. National energy conservation and the coal strike was a big issue in every state of the country, as was the Panama Canal Treaty. The tormenting "Blizzard of '78", which swept through the Midwest, gave everyone a chill.

The deaths of Bing Crosby, Groucho Marx, and Elvis left the country in mourning. But, getting closer to home South's own library returned to the main building after almost three years in a mobile unit; the Southern Spectacular kicked off another year; and the "Freedom Shrine" was dedicated to South. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) proposed the teacher transfers to racially balance the school system, and six teachers were transferred, being replaced by six new ones at the beginning of the second semester. The Journalism Staff would like to convey their thanks and appreciation to their advisor, Mrs. Helen Sparks. Also, our thanks to Rummel Studios for their professional photography; Miss Brown's art classes for banners, Mr. Carlyon's Photography Department for their assistance, and Mike DeRosier for his artwork on the interior pages and the cover of the yearbook. "Turning on to South" was easy this year, and the memories will always remain.
